EIGHTEEN PAGES—THREE CENTS

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM VICTORY IN ILLINOIS

McCullough Says Gov.
Landon Will Win
By 400,000

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The furious finale of the fight to capture Illinois brought conflicting victory claims from republican and democratic chieftains today.

Democratic National committeeman P. A. Nash contended President Roosevelt's plurality in the state would be "not less than 450,000."

Republican State Chairman Perry McCullough asserted Gov. Alf. M. Landon would carry Illinois by "between 350,000 and 400,000."

Nash, holding "every indication points to an overwhelming victory for President Roosevelt," predicted the democratic standard bearer's margin in Cook County (Chicago) would amount to 350,000 or more.

"Roosevelt won't carry Cook county," McCullough declared, "and Landon will come up to the Cook county line with a plurality of 300,000 or more."

He said his forecast was based on complete reports from 90 counties.

Edward F. Moore chairman of the republican central committee in Cook county, said he expected the "battle in Chicago to be close without advantage to either party."

In the Cook county country towns, however, our information indicates a 75,000 majority. There has been a tremendous upswing in republican enthusiasm in the last ten days.

Approximately 4,000,000 citizens were expected to vote in Illinois next Tuesday compared with the previous records of 3,407,476 in 1932.

No letup in one of the most hectic campaigns in the state's history was in sight as candidates for national and state offices prepared to resume a Sabbath holiday and push their drives right up to the early hours of election day.

Republicans brought their fight to take Cook county to a climax tonight at a rally of the party faithful at the International Amphitheater. Col. Frank Knox, vice presidential nominee, ended his stumping tour through 27 states by taking the platform before a home town throng. Orin F. Glenn, candidate for U. S. Senate, and C. W. Wagoner, gubernatorial nominee, were also on the speaking program.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, seeking re-election on the democratic ticket, delivered a staid address at Champaign. Henry Horner, appeared at Springfield rallies scattered throughout the metropolitan area.

Horner, out to retain the post he won four years ago by a 566,287 margin, stood firm on his record and his support of national administration. Brooks leveled his fire at the Horner record. Charged the state government with collecting $83,500,000 a year in new taxes, pledged removal of the three percent sales tax on food and clothing, struck repeatedly at the new deal and urged the electorate to redeem Illinois from the federal rapscallion. Horner asserted he had balanced the budget, provided aid for the jobless and aged and brought about reductions in utility rates.

President Roosevelt, aiming at retention of Illinois' 29 electoral votes, earned them with a 449,548 plurality in 1932—visited the state during two political trips. Gov. Landon, seeking to put the state back in the republican column, crossed Illinois seven times during his drive.

Col. Frank Knox Says Republicans Will Win Tuesday

Vice-presidential Candidate
Addresses Cheering Crowd
In Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, concluded his campaign tonight by telling cheering Chicagoans that the presidential election is already won by the "sober sense of the American people."

The Republican "first mate" drew this conclusion from nearly 24,000 miles of campaign travel as he came home to receive a tumultuous welcome from his townsmen.

A crowd in the big international amphitheater on Chicago's south side filled the air with waving flags as Knox strode to the state to join Illinois candidates in a mass meeting winding up the party's drive for Illinois.

Amid a thunder of drums and a din of cowbells and bugle notes, delegations from the Chicago wards swung into a demonstration parade in the jubilant style of national political conventions.

Repeated blasts from the crowd's noise making equipment saluted Knox as he aimed his final blow at the Democratic opposition. The applause rolled highest when Knox declared he found his campaign audiences, totaling nearly one million persons in 37 states, ready to throw out the amateur dictators, the wasters and the destroyers.

As Knox came to his conclusion, declaring the nation was aroused to preserve American institutions and the battle began "the battle hymn of the Republic." It was drowned out by a final blast from the drums and bugles.

Doctor Learns Lover's Quarrel Wasn't Settled

Joliet Man Charged With Assault With Intent
To Kill

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Dr. Nicholas J. Jackson, 66, said tonight he did not know whose move it was next in his squabbles with his 23-year-old wife, Laura, a former flower girl.

Dr. Jackson was released in bonds of $2,000 today on a charge of assault with intent to kill after his wife told police he fired three bullets at her last night through a locked bedroom door.

After the shooting, Mrs. Jackson disappeared, the doctor said, but returned to her home late this afternoon.

"I figured it was just a lovers' quarrel," Dr. Jackson declared, "and that it was all fixed up again."

Then he said his wife asked for some money to buy a quantity of groceries. The doctor gave it to her.

Mrs. Jackson disappeared again, with the money—and the doctor said he had no track of her tonight.

Dr. Jackson is under $10,000 bonds pending trial on a charge of performing an abortion on Mrs. Christine Feldt, of Aurora. He was indicted by the September grand jury following Mrs. Feldt's death.

Hamilton Says FDR Prostituted "His Own Party"

Claims President Passed
Over Democratic Candidates

Boston, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton charged tonight President Roosevelt "had prostituted his own party for his own advancement."

Hamilton asserted that in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Minnesota the president had passed over Democratic candidates for candidates of other parties.

In Minnesota, Hamilton charged Roosevelt "required and demanded" that Democratic candidates for governor and United States senator withdraw "in favor of candidates of the Socialist party running under the name of the Farmer-Labor Party."

Hamilton charged that David Dubinsky, one of the Democratic presidential electors in New York state was an "agent in the United States for the collection of funds for Communistic Russia."

Directing his question to the president Hamilton asked: "Did you have to resort to Communists and Socialists to fill out the party of Alf Smith and Joseph Ely in New York?"

A crowd that packed Boston Garden to its capacity of 15,000 cheered as Hamilton charged that the federal social security act would subject 27,000,000 persons to an income tax and also "to a continuous supervision by political appointees."

Nice, France, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Forty persons were wounded, two of them gravely, in rioting when Communists massed in a counter-demonstration against a meeting of 6,000 of their opponents.

WE HAVE JUST BEGUN TO FIGHT ROOSEVELT SAYS

President Speaks To Large Audience At New York

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Amid thundering applause of thousands of democrats rallying to his cause in Madison Square Garden, President Roosevelt told the nation tonight that it might expect from four more years of the new deal "a fight on behalf of labor, the farmer, the unemployed and the home owners and for social security and better banking."

That he said is the answer to those who, silent about their own plans ask us to state our objectives."

For the most part, the speech was a repetition of things already undertaken by the administration, sprinkled with repeated assertions that "we have just begun to fight."

Into the final major address of his bid for re-election were injected, too, another thrust at republican regimes of 1920 to 1932, his own definition of the campaign issue, and a declaration that he welcomed the "hate" of those who sought government by "organized money."

The Garden was a riot of noise and color and motion as the chief executive stepped upon the speakers' platform and into the blue white glare of spotlights cutting through cigarette smoke like an army searchlight through a night haze.

Minute after minute the pandemonium kept up. The President stood smiling, waving, making little attempts at first to silence the tremendous uproar.

Crowds streamed into the farther reaches of the balcony, madly waving flags and cheering wildly.

A balcony band playing at top speed was scarcely audible above the pandemonium, swelled by horns and whistles and bells.

After the boisterous greeting had lasted ten minutes over his hand, the President began to wave the throng into the seats, but he had to be cleared by Governor Herbert H. Lehman kept them shouting and whistling.

Finally Mr. Roosevelt pulled out his yellow and white and held it up high. Then he shook his head and brought to a halt a cheer of a half hour. Roosevelt reiterated through the vast indoor amphitheater.

For thirteen minutes the ovation lasted.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, D-N.Y., introduced the president as "our fearless leader and the bearer of our destinies," the President of the United States.

Even as he began speaking, a demonstration had started, forming in the president's forehead.

Alfred E. Smith Assails New Deal In N. Y. Address

Declares Recovery Has Been
Retarded During Present
Administration

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for president in 1932, charged tonight that New Deal leaders "obviously retarded recovery in this country so they could put over a few of their crack-pot schemes."

He assailed President Roosevelt and other Democratic leaders for making ill-fated appeals to other parties such as the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota, the American Labor party in New York and the Progressive party in Wisconsin.

"Somebody is going to be double-crossed," he shouted after citing these and other instances of alliances. He kept repeating it until it became a sort of refrain after each paragraph.

He struck at Democratic leaders for placing Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, and other Labor leaders, described by him as "left wing Socialists," on the ticket as Democratic electors.

The New Deal, he asserted, "is a party that has stolen the liver of the Democratic party, and if allowed to exist for four more years there will be no such thing as a Democratic party."

Smith spoke at Harmanus Bleeker Hall, where every one of the 3,200 seats was occupied and all standing room filled. His speech was the fifth and last of a series against the New Deal.

In his other speeches, he urged the election of Governor Alfred M. Landon, Republican candidate for president, to "make the American form of government safe."

"We have a conscience and a free will," he declared, "and if we take that conscience and free will into the polling place next Tuesday, there is nothing you can do if you love America except change from the present administration to Governor Landon of Kansas."

MADRID, SPAIN, IS ALARMED BY NEW AIR RAIDS

Fascist Warplanes
Make Four Trips
Over Capital

Madrid, Oct. 31.—Fascist warplanes twice bombed Madrid in four trips over the Spanish capital today and brought the toll of death from the air to 109.

An American pilot, Virginia McKay of Colorado Springs, Colo., escaped injury when a single bomb landed near her at 5 20 p. m. during the second visit by the insurgent aircraft.

The aviators circled the city twice to drop bombs.

The returned on two additional flights to bomb the city.

The government capital which the Fascist army had hoped to capture by air.

The fourth trip was at dusk.

Two explosions echoed through the city in the darkness.

Pedestrians scurried for shelter. Anti-aircraft squads trained searchlights on the sky to spot the diving planes.

Anti-aircraft and machine gun battalions fired at the bombers which swooped above the war ministry building a short distance from the Associated Press office.

First reports said two of the Fascist planes crashed.

After their second flight over Madrid, during which they dropped no bombs, the Fascist planes sped to the west and then to the south, losing a number of projectiles on nearby Getafe, Pinto, Parla and Torrejón. Whether there were casualties at those points was not immediately learned, but flames could be seen shooting high from Parla.

During the third visit the rattle and roar of machineguns and anti-aircraft pieces coupled with the howl of the warning sirens added to the panic of throngs crowding the streets. Red lights and tracer bullets gave color to the grim scene, and street cars continued to run through it all.

The only bomb dropped on the third trip of the Fascist aircraft landed in the Paseo De San Vicente, near the north railroad station, shattering windows in the vicinity and spraying the walls of apartment houses with shrapnel.

Airplane detectors, however, had observed the approach of the three bombing planes and pedestrians among them Miss McKay, were given ample warning to seek shelter.

The American girl had been visiting friends and was walking home on Huerto street when the aircraft sounded. As she huddled in a doorway with dozens of Madrid residents, the bomb exploded and pieces of shrapnel buried themselves in the building.

Of the 189 killed in the Madrid area in yesterday's bombardments, 147 died within Madrid itself. Only 22 of these had been identified late today.

Most of the victims were women and children. Many were mangled, their faces scarcely recognizable.

Two Springfield Youths Arrested

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Frank Campo, 29, and Anthony Zita, 32, both of Springfield, Ill., were held in the La Salle county jail tonight without formal charge. Following their arrest by Sheriff Ralph Desper, who said two loaded revolvers and a rifle were found in their automobile.

The sheriff said the weapons were found under the front seat of Zita's automobile after the sheriff and a deputy forced the automobile in which the two men were riding to a halt on highway 31, near Toulon, early today.

Sheriff Desper said $458 in cash was found on Zita. Both men gave their occupations as grocers, the officer said.

Bert Way from Ashland transacted business here Saturday.

STORK DERBY IS OVER; SIX CLAIM PRIZE

Court To Decide How
$500,000 Is To Be Distributed

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon told an uproarious throng tonight "New Deal" broken promises were "holding us back" and closed his presidential campaign by pledging a restoration of "good government," bringing "full recovery and re-employment."

Enterprise and Initiative are afraid of the present administration," the Republican presidential nominee said, "and it is shocking" for President Roosevelt to ask re-election on the basis of recovery "when 11,000,000 were unemployed."

Before a cheering stamping, flag-waving, hollowed night crowd overflowing space for 15,000 in the big municipal auditorium, the Kansas governor said his Democratic opponent "has not revealed his program for the future."

The present administration "Landon said, "has tried to conceal that our form of government is in issue in this campaign. It has tried to run from its record instead of on its record."

Landon spoke at the end of a campaign trail which had taken him nearly 20,000 miles, including a transcontinental thrust from Los Angeles to New York.

For the first time Mrs. Landon and her 13-year-old daughter, Peggy Ann, sat with him on a speaking platform.

Lowered behind the nominee during a deafening welcome which greeted the arrival of Mrs. Landon and Peggy Ann, and then grew thunderous in volume as Landon walked out and continued unbroken for 11 minutes.

"You Can Believe Landon," he said, "and I can believe the governor to win his speech were drowned out in the noise."

A chorus of boos echoed virtually every mention of President Roosevelt and the New Deal. Hardly had the governor begun when voices began to shout "Give it to em Alf" and "atta boy."

There was a constant interruption of applause bursts.

Landon closed his campaign for the White house by presenting a "cheer" to the crowd, saying "I look forward to a great and happier America. An America with real recovery with freedom and credit unquestioned."

An America that sees its farmers free to plant what they want, raise what they will and with a market for their product.

"An America that sees its workers content because jobs are plentiful and secure, with wages that mean America that is united—united because our people are making common cause as Americans and irrespective of race, color or creed."

The governor said "the two biggest jobs" today were getting 11,000,000 unemployed back to work and "stopping the pouring of our money through the great political sieve at Washington."

"The two jobs are wrapped together," he said, "and we cannot live forever off tomorrow's income. We cannot live forever by borrowing from our children. And we cannot live forever on a united nation with one-fifth of our working population dependent upon the government."

For the spending "job," Landon promised a balanced budget. Then he asked:

"Why are there still 11,000,000 unemployed?"

The answer is that enterprise and initiative are afraid of the present administration. "They don't know what the administration is going to do next. They lack confidence in their own government and without this confidence they dare not plan for the future."

"If we are to have full recovery and re-employment, confidence must be restored. There must be some assurance that our money will not be destroyed tomorrow by an erratic administration."

"We must restore confidence in the government's credit. But that is not all. We must also open the way to individual initiative. We must restore the principles of free competition. We must strengthen and enforce the anti-trust laws which are designed for the protection of the little fellow. We must stamp out unfair trade practices which work to the disadvantage of the little fellow. And we must do this without treating every man who makes a profit as if he were a criminal against society."

"At the same time we must provide real old age pensions for our people. We must repeal the present tax on pay envelopes and pay the cost of these pensions as we go along by a direct tax widely distributed."

Seven Persons Drowned When Boat Overtakes

Five Little Lived When Rescue Vessel Also Capsizes

Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Seven persons drowned after a motorboat overturned in Lake George today when a rescue boat capsized and plunged them into the water a second time.

Mrs. Over Hendricks, who saved a half mile from the shore to pick up the victims and one of the motorboat passengers were saved.

An 11-year-old boy and one of the men had gone down before Mrs. Hendricks could reach them.

She helped five men clamber into the rowboat and escaped their fate by clinging to the only life preserver she had brought after her tiny craft tilted over.

Three generations perished in the accident. James Halama, 38, his father, 39, a Bessemer, Mich., principal, the latter's brother, Frank, 37, and their father, Jacob, who were among the victims.

They set out today with four other men, all school officials and teachers in Bessemer, on a pleasure cruise on the lake, 40 miles east of here, in the motorboat of Irvin Dulebohn, 44, of Ramsey, superintendent of Bessemer school system.

Dulebohn, Stanley Cory, 32, of Pontiac, Mich., a teacher, and Lawrence Pitruska, 48, of Ironwood, principal of another school, also drowned.

Theodore Olson, 31, of Peppin, Wis., a teacher, was the only survivor of the party, picked up by Mrs. Hendricks by a group of men who came to the rescue in another boat.

1936 Campaign To Cost Over $13,000,000

Republican Party Will Spend Almost Seven Million

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Expenditures of more than $13,000,000 had been recorded today in America's costliest presidential campaign, as the Republican national committee's final report before election showed it had spent almost $7,000,000.

Listing disbursements of $1,302,086 in the ten days ended October 28, the Republican committee disclosed that it had spent $6,988,663 since January 1.

Additional spending by congressional and senatorial committees boosted the party's total to $7,488,718.

The combined outlay of the two parties climbed close to $11,000,000, as disbursements by Democratic organizations increased today to $3,430,494.

The Democratic national committee spent $3,406,501 of this sum, while the rest was paid out by congressional and senatorial committees.

Minor parties and independent groups—such as the American Liberty League, the United Mine Workers, the National Union for Social Justice, and the Good Neighbor League—have listed disbursements of well over $2,000,000 in their reports to the clerk of the house.

Spending by individual candidates and local organizations raised the campaign total still higher.

Expenditures of both major parties in the entire 1936 campaign were only $4,378,000, while $11,598,000 was spent in the 1928 election, the most expensive on record.

Salt Lake City, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, smiling broadly, said today the idea of his seeking office again "isn't worth a passing thought."

"My age, and with my liking for fishing," he added.

Pacific Maritime Strike Spreading To Rail Cargoes

Officials Fear Alaska and Hawaii Will Be Affected

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Pacific Maritime strike extended its grip today to certain overland railroad cargo tied up more eastern ships, spreading further along the business front and caused official concern over its possible effects upon Alaska and Hawaii.

The Maritime Engineers union ordered its license-bearing members to resign and leave the engine rooms of strike-bound coast ships. Previously the unions had permitted the ships to keep engineering officers.

Shipowners again refused to resume peace conversations as long as the 57,000 coast maritime and shorewise workers remained on strike.

Sixteen ships were tied up by sympathy strikes at Philadelphia and nine were reported stricken at Baltimore. New York experienced a "let down" strike of seamen of the American ship Munargo.

Striking seamen picketed the wharves of the Long Island Sound lines at Providence, R. I., but longshoremen there were reported to have rejected an appeal for a sympathy strike.

Most east coast seamen were marking time and shipping circles indicated they did not expect any strike action by Atlantic longshoremen. Joseph Gorman, leader of a militant group of seamen, said he hoped for a strike vote among the 37,000 International Seamen's union members tonight.

The International Longshoremen's union here issued a strike bulletin asking its members to preserve discipline and "union men" and said they were going to have peace "even if we have to fight for it."

Grocery and food stores were closed here because of a strike of 1,000 warehousemen seeking wage increases. Warren G. Denton, their leader, said no attempt would be made to prevent delivery of necessities.

CAMPAIGN ENDS IN AN UPROAR OF ARGUMENTS

44,000,000 Ballots
May Be Cast On Tuesday

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Much as it began the presidential campaign virtually ended tonight with an uproar of party-splitting arguments over New Deal policies.

Led by President Roosevelt in New York City and Governor Landon in St. Louis, their partisans disputed from one end of the country to the other. A Sabbath quiet tomorrow will allow for brief reflection by the voters. Some final appeals and warnings remain for Monday. Officials are preparing for a record turnout of 44,000,000 on Tuesday. Trend in pivotal states may tip the balance the next before the evening as well as Monday.

Predictions and claims contradict each other more markedly than in some recent elections. Citing factors which seem to favor them to support their assertions of confidence, major party leaders do not differ in their assessments. Broadly, the Democratic organization appears to be counting on the south and states in the far west and the Republicans on New England as starting points. None of the great industrial or farming states with the larger electoral votes is expected. The deciding margin may be measured by what those areas do.

It was to the mid-western farm and populous eastern sections that both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Landon especially addressed themselves in their travels after overriding those advisors who recommended more "stay-at-home" campaigning. Through thousands of men and about half the states each raised his appeals on an aggressively fundamental issue.

The Roosevelt version: "Shall the social and economic security and betterment of the masses be maintained?"

The Landon version: "Shall our American form of government be preserved?"

Beneath such general questions whirled arguments over taxes, spending, social security, tariff, relief and farm methods and a realm of lesser subjects. Party lines fell askew even more spectacularly than in 1932. In many of the contests for 33 governorships, 55 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House, no hard and fast party lines were drawn by aspirants.

Two of the three living former Democratic presidential nominees went over to the opposition, a number of one-time party leaders in the states planned for the nominal election, and leading families split: a son of Republican President Garfield declared for Roosevelt and a son of Democratic President Cleveland advocated Landon.

For a time the new Union Party (R-N-D) predicted his own election. The latest hope in his ranks, it is that a neighborly major candidate will be the 265 electoral votes required for election and the choice will devolve upon the House. Dr. F. E. Townsend, also allied with Lemke, has advised his followers to support Landon in New York and other states where the Union ticket is not on the ballot. On his part, Lemke has associated both Roosevelt and Landon as creatures of Wall Street.

Of the other major party candidates, Earl Browder, the Communist, has been at the forefront in making more biting attacks on Landon than on Roosevelt.

The trade record went to Colonel Frank Knox, the Republican vice presidential nominee, who closed out 24,000 miles tonight to make his 29th address in his own Chicago. In contrast, Vice President Garner stuck most of the time to his Uvalde home in Texas, making but one major broadcast.

Workmen who had been doing overtime duty to complete the flower show's palace in time for the Queen's expected visit adopted a resolution of regret at her illness. The governors and architects of the palace were authorized to grant two shillings (about 50 cents) to each workman to drink to the Queen's health.

Lorado Taft Dies

The death of Lorado Taft, famous sculptor, who succumbed to a stroke of the heart in Chicago, today has caused a sensation in the country. Taft was one of the greatest sculptors of the country. He was credited with creating the design of the soldiers monument in Central park, and he designed the statue of the Lincoln statue in the Lincoln Memorial.

Mr. Taft, 67, was the Black Hawk statue in the Lincoln Memorial. He was a workman who made his great reputation. He and those whom he has taught have been responsible for the sculpture of the Lincoln Memorial. His art is still a part of the nation's history.

Hunters Be Careful

During the duck hunting season, hunters are advised to be careful. Hunters are advised to be careful. Hunters are advised to be careful. Hunters are advised to be careful. Hunters are advised to be careful.

Every hunter should remember that a loaded gun is a killer. It is never a toy and always it must be handled with care. A gun should be carried in the safest way possible and should never be cocked unless the hunter is ready to shoot. When the hunting is finished, the gun should be unloaded and kept that way until it is again needed for action.

The hunter who goes forth for a day's pleasure should be reasonably sure that his fun will not be turned to tragedy. Care will give him this assurance, and he can hunt in peace. The ducks are said to be abundant this season, and a good marksman should get the limit if luck is with him. Then he should enjoy the fruits of his labor if he likes duck dinner.

Dress Not Important

Jimmy Mollison flew the Atlantic in his dinner jacket with only a pair of slacks to protect his dress suit. But he made a record anyway, crossing from Newfoundland to England in 15 hours and 17 minutes. All this proves that dress is not so important after all.

It used to be that thick flying suits were in order. Men rode in open cockpits and braved the elements in true masculine style. But nowadays they travel in closed cabins and wear evening clothes. Mollison said he did most of his flying at night and he wanted to be appropriately dressed. Had anything gone wrong in mid-Atlantic, he might have appeared in style at the court of King Jones, with not much to put in the locker.

But Who Would Pay, or Repay?

Editorial from Kansas City Star: Extensive important questions are suggested by the speech of Mr. Roosevelt at Wilkes-Barre expressing deep resentment at the action of employers throughout the country in telling their workers about the political campaign under the social security act.

Mr. Roosevelt states that if there really exists the anticipated doubt about the future action of congress in repaying these amounts, then it might be well for the people who feel this uncertainty to move to some other nation in which they have greater faith. Now if they would move, or could be moved, before the election it would be the best deal case quite substantially. But second that the transfer would involve a tremendous handicap.

For all this the people concerned should leave the country, and this includes millions of workers as well as their employers. Not could Mr. Roosevelt ever collect enough taxes to finance his spending.

When the resentful mood of the Wilkes-Barre speech has subsided Mr. Roosevelt surely will consider the question in this cold, practical light. But there are facts about the matter which are not denied and cannot be denied by Mr. Roosevelt. The facts are that the payments will be made by the workers and by their employers. Mr. Roosevelt would stress the employer payments, showing that they are greater than those made by the employees. But that means insecurity rather than security for both, and especially for the workers.

Thousands of businesses could not pay the taxes that would be demanded from them—a final total of 6 per cent

BEHIND THE SCENES IN THE CAMPAIGN

"Payroll Tax" Idea in Social Security Plan Happens to Be That of a Big Industrialist—Gerard Swope . . . Winant Opposed Huge Reserve . . . Candidates Are Always Confident . . . William Allen White Isn't "Up Front" as Landon Adviser.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier, Washington Correspondent

Washington—It is an ironic note that the social security "payroll tax" of which Republican campaigners and many manufacturers made such an important issue in the last days of the presidential battle was the handiwork of Gerald Swope, chairman of the board of the huge General Electric Company.

Principle of equal employer and employee contributions to the old age benefit system was chosen as the alternative to taking the money for a national old age pension system from the pockets of property taxes.

This action of the social security act was modeled after the General Electric pension plan, partly because the plan, after an amendment, the industrialists and experts allied with Swope had to go on was the experience of certain big corporation pension funds and because Roosevelt took the advice of Swope and other conservatives rather than of Progressive New Dealers who argued that old age pensions should be paid out of profits.

The example of industrialists felt it was so important when groups which had been hesitating to lobby about increased taxes began to attack industry for political purposes. The system devised by one of their own wealthy industrialists to save them from a real drain on their own pocketbooks.

Feared Huge Reserve

John Winant, who became chairman of the Social Security Board and resigned to defend the act from Landon's attacks, may deny it—but he was among the many experts who believed the creation of a huge old age benefit reserve fund was absurd and dangerous.

The fund is theoretically due to reach the $4 billion mark of $4 billion dollars by 1939 and would serve as a bill in the chest of the national economy.

Winant and others considered themselves that the fund might be allowed to grow to two or three billions within a few years without getting out of hand, by which time the nation could be "sold" up to a new pay-as-you-go law which would take the old age benefit money out of income taxes.

It was generally conceded that Congress would pass that kind of law last year and accepted the contribution reserve fund plan because, as John Maynard Keynes said regarding the Paris peace conference, the average statesman could think he had a billion dollars and after reaching that point it didn't make any difference to him how many billions were added on the operations figures.

The Republican educational campaign has now raised such a furor that an early date for a "speak the truth" tax to pay old age pensions is inevitable.

JAPAN IN THE PACIFIC

Editorial Opinion of the Baltimore Sun

Japanese activities in the South Seas have lately aroused a good deal of curiosity in American and European diplomatic quarters. It has been frequently asserted that Japan is fortifying some of the islands in that neighborhood which it holds under mandate from the League. More recently the Japanese plan to develop a network of air lines embracing the Caroline, Marianne, Marshall, and other islands has strengthened the suspicion that Japan is quietly at work on some far-reaching military program in the South Pacific.

However, in its formal notification of the League of Nations that it was withdrawing all of its naval forces from the mandated islands the Japanese government took occasion to declare that it has "no fortifications, military or naval bases" on any of these islands but was scrupulously observing that section of its mandate which forbids the use of these territories for military purposes. Similar statements from Tokyo in the past have been received with no little skepticism in Geneva.

These suspicious regarding Japanese activities can do no one any good. Even if they were not altogether unfounded, there would be no reason for America to be disturbed. No military or naval bases in the South Seas can possibly be regarded as a menace to the territorial security of this country. They might prove a handicap if the United States were planning to go to war on the other side of the Pacific, but surely no one in Washington can have anything as foolish as that in mind.

HIS TOUGHNESS LEAST SYNTHETIC

Victor McLaglen Has Lived Most of His Hard-Boiled Characterizations.

Alva Johnston in Woman's Home Companion

Of all the important tough men in the pictures Victor McLaglen is the least synthetic. He earned his fine savage, hard-boiled characterizations through thirteen years of soldiering plus incidental experience as a policeman, pearl fisher, miner, sailor, detective and vaudeville actor.

McLaglen is the only star who is tough all through. His chief traits in ferocity have been three bookworms and a horticulturist. The one great actor who looked fiercer and harder than McLaglen was the late Louis Wolheim, a former prep-school professor, whose ambition in life was to win a doctor's degree in mathematics. Wolheim, a gentle scholar with a nose broken at football, was a fine lawyer on the stage and a convincing one on the screen, but he yearned for parts which allowed him to hold hands in the moonlight. He arranged with a plastic surgeon in 1927 to have his nose made more like a bulldog's and to get out an injunction to stop him.

Jimmy Cagney's toughness is rooted in early experience and observation, but he spends his leisure practically dunking himself in culture and would give his soul to escape from his routine film character. Edmund Lowe, who devoted ten years of his life to the effort to out-sneer and out-guile McLaglen, is a bachelor of arts of the University of Santa Clara and a former member of the Santa Clara teaching staff.

Wallace Beery is a tulip-breeder. He has battled with professional prize fighters and wrestlers in Hollywood and has even grappled with lions, but he has not been in a fist fight except in the line of duty since he was in the fourth grade.

Of course McLaglen, off the screen, is a peaceful citizen nowadays. He is gentle as a lamb. His sweetness of temper is set forth in considerable detail in legal documents which he has filed in the courts of Los Angeles in answer to the damage suits of persons who charge him with beating them up. One plaintiff alleged that he had been mauled $20,000 worth by McLaglen. Vice's defense was that he had not even lifted a finger against the complainant; he had merely spoken sharply to the man and the man had jumped out a window.

AFTER THE ELECTION RETURNS

The Observatory

It is all very quiet here Thursday night. Roosevelt left the theatre by a big motor and last night Landon slipped over by the skin of his teeth.

Experts as the news that the chlorine water sometimes found in the city water has been hoisted to loudly about increased taxes began to attack industry for political purposes. The system devised by one of their own wealthy industrialists to save them from a real drain on their own pocketbooks.

This time next week the Jacksonville "expert tabulators" will have discovered the various and sundry straw vote polls and making deductions therefrom. They will be busy establishing a basis as to why their predictions were so inaccurate.

Diplomacy according to the Norratur Dispatch is the art of letting someone tell you how to vote.

Until they met Northwestern it has been the habit of football coaches whose teams lost consistently to seek consolation with the idea that they are building character. Perhaps there is a sound basis to this theory, concludes the Manhattan Mercury, as most of the opponents of the undefeated Minnesota teams of the last few years have felt that the Minnesota crews were a menace to society.

Samantha Steele of the Doins News diagnosed it this way: "The trouble with some people, they want to make the relief roll into a loaf."

Duck Stamps May Be Purchased Only at Government Offices

Post Office and Substation Only Places Where Stamps are Sold

Duck stamps entitling the purchaser to shoot ducks on their hunting licenses are available only at the post office and the postal substation, according to a report put out by the county clerk's office yesterday morning. There have been a number of requests for stamps at the county clerk's office but since the stamps are issued by the federal government, they are sold only through the federal government's offices.

Duck hunting becomes legal at 7 o'clock this morning, and will be legal all through the month of November each day between the hours of 7 a.m. and sunset.

Reports received here indicate that an unusually large number of ducks have arrived in the Meredosia and Beardstown neighborhoods, and there has been considerable activity in these two districts as owners of shoots and ponds have completed preparations for the opening of the season.

In view of the fact that it is illegal to bait ground over which hunters are to shoot, the act of hunting is said to have declined this year.

Federal regulations require hunters to attach a duck stamp, costing $1, to their state license if the hunters wish to shoot ducks. State licenses are necessary, but do not entitle hunters to shoot ducks unless the federal duck stamp has been placed on the license.

Hunters also must shoot ducks with plugged guns. No gun used in shooting ducks may have a capacity for more than three charges, a requirement of both the state and federal conservation departments.

When you see a girl nowadays with finger nails it does not necessarily follow that she stained them putting up preserves and catsup, the Jackson City Post-Tribune says.

After Tuesday there will be fewer politicians and more arguments.

LEGAL AND ILLEGAL VOTING

By JUDGE WM. E. THOMSON.

It is not true that a person has a right to vote "some place." The right to vote is purely statutory, and unless a person complies with the provisions of law, he or she is not entitled to vote. If his action places him outside these provisions, he "loses his vote."

For instance, if a person moves from one precinct to another, on or after October 8th, this year, he can neither vote in his former precinct, nor in the precinct from which he moved. If he moves on October 8th, he will have been in his new precinct 28 full days, and part of two days, which can be construed as a total of 30 days.

General Qualifications
It is easy enough to give the general qualifications which one must possess in order to be a legal voter. A person must be 21 years of age or over, a citizen of the United States, a resident of the State of Illinois for one year, of the county ninety days, and of the precinct thirty days. But a person who has had his rights taken away from him by being convicted of an infamous crime, or a person who has been declared insane, or is "non compos mentis" is not entitled to vote.

We experience very little difficulty in determining whether or not a person is a citizen of the United States. As to age, it is well settled that if a person is 21 years old the day after election—November 4th, this year—he or she is entitled to vote on November 3rd. If the birthday however happens to be on November 5th, such person is not entitled to vote on November 3rd.

Residence
A great difficulty is experienced in the matter of residence. Just where if a person's residence? The answer is easy with regard to 90% or more of the voters, but many and various questions arise as to the others. A person's legal residence is the place where he resides or is making his permanent abode. However, a person does not lose his residence on account of absence therefrom, on the business of the United States or of this State, or any subdivision thereof.

"A permanent abode" necessary to constitute a residence does not mean that the citizen expects to remain there permanently, or as long as he lives. It simply means that for the time being, he is making his home there with no definite fixed intention of returning at a certain definite time to his former place of abode. In the event that he is living at a certain place temporarily in order to accomplish a definite piece of work with a fixed intention of returning to his former residence at a definite time, he does not necessarily lose his former place of abode as his legal residence. However, if a person wishes to claim the place where he is actually living as his legal residence, and surrender his former legal residence, he may do so.

A person moving from one precinct to another is not entitled to claim his residence in his former precinct, by reason of leaving a bed or other articles of furniture in the first precinct. This is an excuse used by many illegal voters. Even if one has his real place in advance and moves his abode, he cannot vote at the place from which he moved, even though he leaves some furniture. Likewise, the "intention to return sometime" is another well worn excuse, but which does not give a person the legal right to vote at his former place of abode.

A family moving from one precinct to another, with the intention of returning at a certain definite time, when they can get possession of a farm or home already purchased or rented before they move, does not lose their rights of voting in the precinct from which they are temporarily absent. But if such home or farm is not rented or purchased before they move, then the establishing of a home in another precinct or county constitutes the giving up of their residence in the pre-

America votes

An Editorial
by
Bruce Catton

THERE isn't anything remarkably noble or inspiring about the sight of John Citizen going to the polls to mark a ballot. It goes on year in and year out, and usually it's just another chore. The booths are small, stuffy and none too clean, and the same thing often goes for the candidates as well.

But as we get ready to cast our votes on Tuesday we might remember that we are taking part in a privilege for which some millions of Europeans would give their right eyes.

We are reaffirming—even if we don't realize it—our faith that men can govern themselves a little bit better than they can be governed by somebody else.

We are upholding that priceless American ideal of freedom, which holds that human happiness is best promoted by relying on the good will, the good sense and the good faith of the average man. It is an ideal that was born amid bloodshed and danger and was made good by men who dared to risk their lives, and lose them if need be, in order to bring liberty to the common man.

Hardly any of us think of these things, of course, as we jam our way into the voting booth. We go in, mark the ballot to the best of our judgment, and go on about the business of the day. That we have participated in a tremendous privilege escapes us entirely, so does the fact that we have shouldered a tremendous responsibility.

For responsibility goes with privilege, always. The right to vote carries with it a duty.

THE duty, first of all, to vote. In a country where something like half of the eligible population generally stays entirely away from the polls, this is a duty that needs emphasizing. The man who is too busy, too lazy or too indifferent to mark a ballot can have no kick coming if things thereafter don't go to suit him. He hasn't done his part; if his government turns out to be slightly sour he has no one to blame but himself.

Oddly enough, many of the non-voters don't realize that fact. They fail to vote, or refuse to make the effort—and then hold forth at great length on the fact that politics is a dirty business, that politicians are frauds and grafters and that all government is run for the sake of hidden and predatory "interests."

If you stay away from the polls on Tuesday you'll have no right to sing that little song after Tuesday. You have just as big a vote as any other man in the country; if you don't use it, don't start wailing about politics.

But simply to cast a vote is not enough. The vote must be cast intelligently—for the cornerstone of our American democracy is the idea that the average citizen has brains enough to cast a vote that means something, and gumption enough to put those brains to work before he goes to the polls.

That means that you must have a definite, logical reason for your vote. You must have done some thinking about it. Your vote must must express a real conviction.

THUS the ignorant "band wagon" voter, who votes for the man he thinks likely to win for the simple reason that he wants to be on a winner, is just as bad a citizen as the man who doesn't vote at all. As a matter of fact, he is a worse citizen. The damage the other fellow does is negative; the damage done by the bandwagon voter is positive and definite. The bandwagon vote is probably the silliest and most deplorable phenomenon that has ever appeared in American politics.

To vote, then, and to vote only after careful deliberation, is that all there is to it? By no means; what there must also be an appreciation of what the privilege of the vote means, an understanding that right here, in the poorly-ventilated polling place on the corner, is the keystone in the arch of everything that we understand and live in that abstraction, "The American way."

We often do a good deal of talking about the richness of the natural resources with which nature has blessed America—the millions of acres of farm land, the limitless material things to be made into automobiles, and so on. These things are great blessings, to be sure, but they are not what makes America great. It is not because of them that the very word, "America," has come to have a great meaning in the ears of mankind.

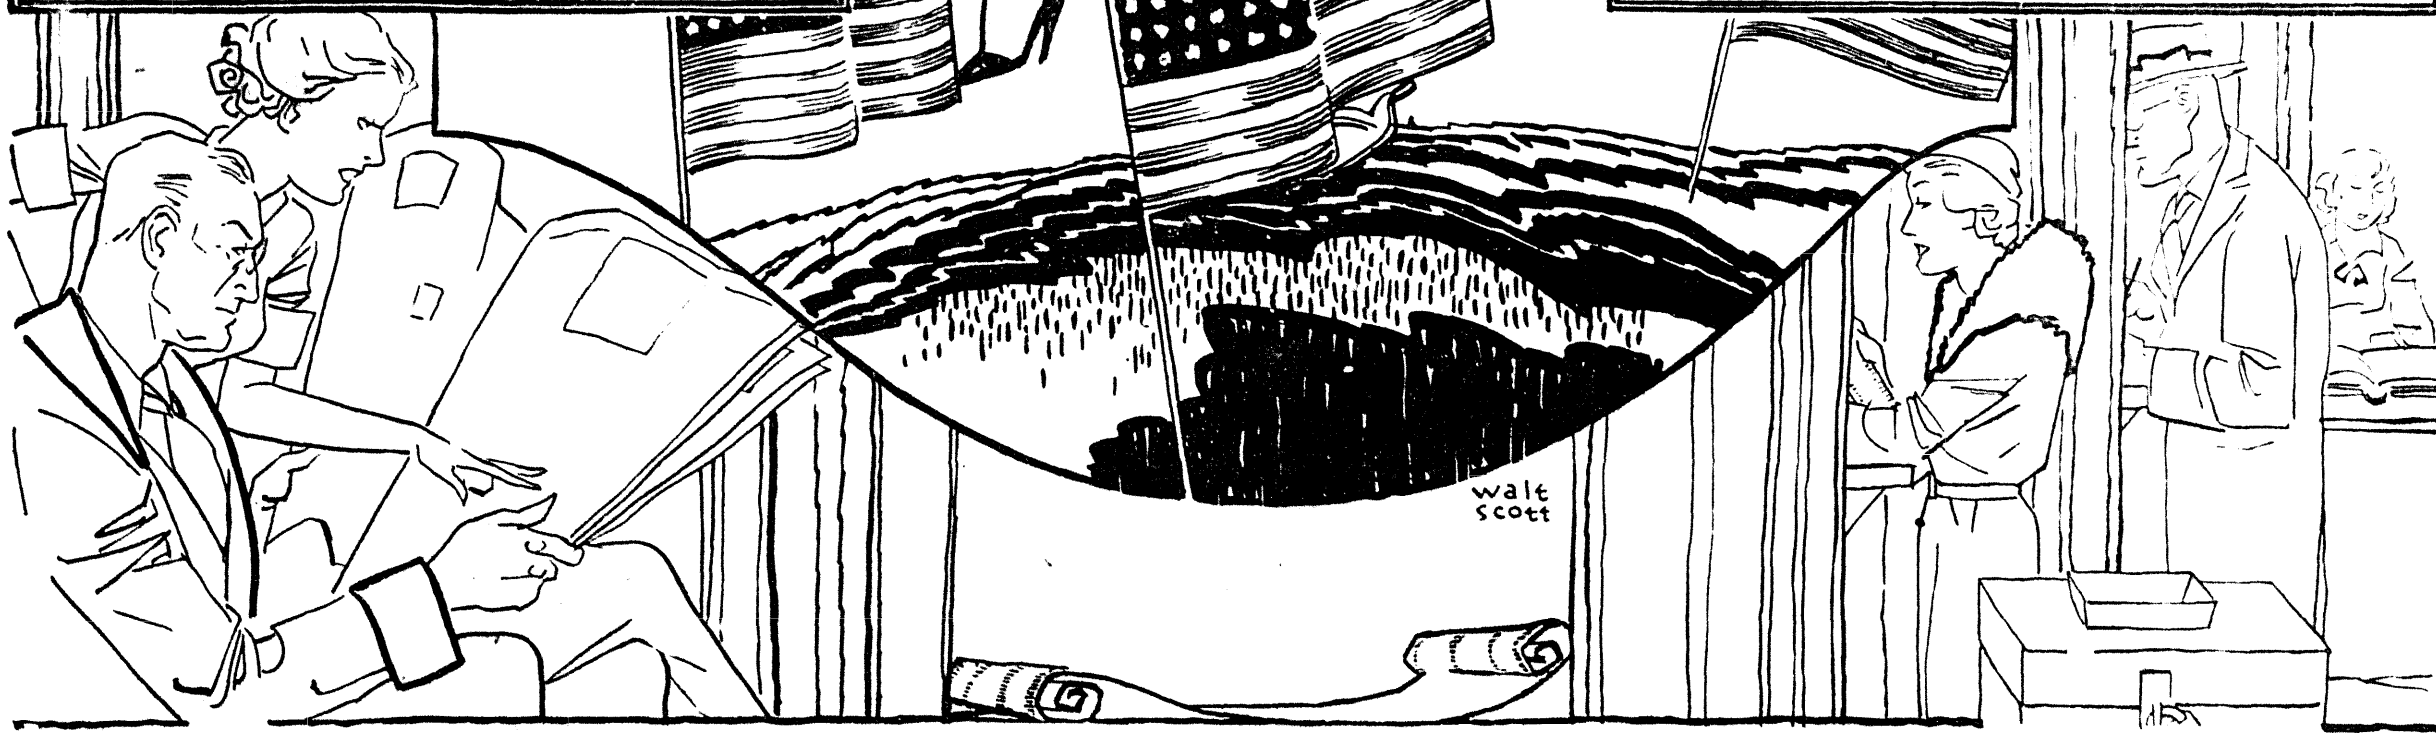

FIRST and last, there is the spirit of freedom. Freedom to enjoy these blessings to the best of our ability, freedom to be what we please and do what we please, within the bounds of a democratic society. Freedom to be our own masters, physically and spiritually, the lords of our individual and collective fates. Talk that away and you take all away.

In many a great nation that freedom has been lost. In Italy, in Germany, in Russia and in many a lesser country, men are not free to order their destinies. They take what is handed down from above—and like it. They have abdicated their right to govern themselves. Decisions which are matters of life and death must be taken without their counsel, and when they have been taken they must abide by them without a murmur.

But here? Well, any American citizen, whether he is a county commissioner deciding about changing the size of Sloan's Run, or a president weighing the course of war and peace—must go, sooner or later, to the voting booth in the corner and find out whether the people like his ideas. If they do, they will say so, and he can go ahead. If they don't, they say so, likewise, and he too must cease to be a policy-maker and give up his place to someone who will interpret the popular will a little more accurately.

It isn't a small privilege, this privilege of the vote. It is the greatest of all privileges. It is what has made us, in the proud old boast, a nation of kings.

Remember it, as you go to the polls Tuesday. Perform your duty as a citizen, perform it to the best of your intelligence—and thank God that you are an American with the right to perform it at all!

Factory Census for State Shows Real Industrial Growth

Plants, Payrolls, Value of Products Increase; City Figures Not Released

Manufacturing activities in Illinois in 1935, as reported in the Manufactures Census taken this year, show substantial increases as compared with 1933, according to preliminary figures made public yesterday by Director William L. Austin of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

The combined number of full-time and part-time wage earners employed (average for the year), 533,649, represented an increase of 27 percent over 1933, and the amount of their wages in 1935, $591,007,000, exceeded the 1933 figure by 46.4 percent. For value of products, an increase of 50.5 percent is recorded—from $2,502,175,233 to $3,755,502,000.

There were 11,855 establishments engaged in manufacturing in Illinois in 1935, as compared with 10,740 in 1933 and 15,278 in 1919. The census of manufacturing is taken every two years, and is a regular function of the government.

The work was done in Jacksonville and surrounding areas under direction of Henry Frisch. Figures for this city have not yet been made available, but a release of this data is expected in the near future. It is customary first to release state totals, and then the figures on individual areas.

In 1933 there were only 1,023 blacksmith shops in the state. By 1935 the number had decreased to 942. Shoe repair shops and shoe shining parlors also showed a decrease in the two-year period, dropping from 3,900 to 3,887. Beauty parlors showed an increase from 3,355 to 4,355 adding an even thousand to the list.

Lucas Hits at Foes In Winchester Talk

Charges Ruse Used to Turn Attention from Issues Of Election Tuesday

Winchester, Oct. 31.—Congressman Scott W. Lucas, candidate for re-election as representative of the Twentieth Congressional district in Congress, brought his campaign to a close by addressing a crowd at the court house here tonight.

In his address before the people of Scott county, he called attention to the fact that in his sixteen years of political life he has never carried on a campaign of vilification, mud slinging, or defamation. He has repeatedly said that the economic issues of this campaign have such a deep and underlying significance to the future of the great mass of American people that no opportunity should be lost in discussing the real facts surrounding those issues.

Congressman Lucas called attention to what he charged was propaganda being disseminated by the Republican national and state headquarters to the voters in this election, in the hope that they may by this ruse divert the attention of interested citizens away from the true economic issues.

"It was ever thus in a campaign."

RICHARD JACKSON INJURED IN WRECK NEAR MURRAYVILLE

Richard Jackson of Winchester, a WPA employee, was injured yesterday morning about 8:30 o'clock when the car in which he was riding overturned while rounding a curve on the hard road near Murrayville. The machine is said to have been traveling at high speed. The machine left the road and turned over three times, landing in the garden of O. S. Blakeman. The car was totally demolished.

Jackson and a companion, Chester Savage of Glasgow, were pinned under the car. Jackson was brought to Our Saviour's hospital here, where he was attended by Dr. R. M. Norris. He sustained scalp wounds, but was able to leave the hospital.

Savage was driving the car, a Model A Ford belonging to Harvey Blair when the two men left Glasgow yesterday morning. After the accident, residents of Murrayville rescued the two from beneath the wrecked car. George Seal and T. E. Boserker brought Jackson to the hospital here.

Major Club Owners Study 1937 Salaries

Cuts Expected for Some of Players on Showings

New York—(AP)—There was no obvious activity in the 16 major league baseball offices today, but the club owners were calmly stirring up a hurricane of trouble just the same. They were working on the 1937 baseball salaries, an innocent looking mathematical procedure calculated this year to involve some of the game's famous players in a few first class wrangles.

Generally based on the uncompromising arithmetic of the batting and pitching averages, salary cuts were expected for Paul Dean, Cardinals' pitcher, Buddy Myer, Washington's 1935 American League batting champion, and Hank Greenberg, the Tigers' long hitting first baseman, among others.

These three appeared to be in the toughest spots. Myer won the batting crown with an average of .349. This year he cut that figure down 90 points.

and played only about a month. Greenberg hit .328 season before last, held out for more money last spring, and then broke his arm after playing 12 games. Paul Dean also came up with a bad arm and finished the season with five games won and as many lost. He was paid off for this on the basis of winning 19 and losing 12 the year before.

Bad news also appeared to be on the way for Arky Vaughan, the 1935 National League batting star, whose record .385 dwindled 51 points this season; Hank Leiber, Giants' outfielder, who fell off at bat and lost his regular position; Augie Galan, star of the Cubs' 1935 pennant dash, whose average shrank 50 points to .264; Virgil Davis, Cards' catcher, who finished with a mark of .268; Hal Lee of the Bees who dropped from .303 to .249; and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs who is falling into legend.

A general shakedown was expected for the gold-plated Boston Red Sox, with an extra shake for Roger Cramer, whose 1935 average of .332 fell away to .291. Al Cooke, who slumped from .306 to .273, and Mel Alameda, who pulled up this year with a mark of .253.

Even some of the pitchers will be cooled off. In the National League, the general pay raise anticipated for most of the winning Giants is not likely to spread to Hal Schumacher's envelope. He won 19 and lost 9 in 1935, but won only 11 and lost 13 last season. Charlie Root of the Cubs is also in a bad way. He won only three games and lost six after a record of 15 won and eight lost the year before.

In the American League, Alvin Crowder of the Tigers, Ted Lyons, White Sox; Mel Harder and Willis Hudlin, Indians, and Fred Ostermueler and Wes Ferrell, Red Sox, also are in poor clobbering positions.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KATE and CAROLINE MEED had their lovely, indolent grandfathers, BATH SAW, ALBIE and two old Negro servants, ALBIE and ZEKIE. Kate is engaged to handsome MORTIMER, PHILADELPHIA, who neglects her for beautiful and wealthy EYE EWELL.

Walter Meed loses the farm to JEFF HOWARD, a bitter young mountaineer. Kate hates Jeff, but he, in spite of her insolent treatment, finds himself loving her. Morgan offers to marry Kate if she will desert her family. Kate realizes he is unworthy and refuses him. Just as he is on the point of hitting her for Eve, Kate feels hurt and angry, but she glides off her insolent treatment, and she works up a cottage cheese recipe and impulsively decides to ask Jeff to be a customer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII

BEFORE the idea could cool Kate obeyed her impulse to add Jeff Howard's name to her list of customers. She changed into riding clothes (shabby boots, breeches and linen jacket) and set off on Brown Boy.

When she reached Meed Meadows she inquired Mr. Howard's whereabouts from a farmhand and learned that he was gathering apples.

It amused her to see his surprise when he looked up from the basket he was packing and found her there. Kate said, "I've come on business, Mr. Howard. My sister and I are taking orders for cottage cheese and baked goods. We'd like to list you for regular deliveries."

"Well," Jeff exclaimed, surprised and flattered, "I'm right foot of cake, and pie, too. The man I've got cooking for me can't make either. Yes, I'll take some. Regularly—regularly," he corrected himself hastily, college triumphing over cabin.

Kate's eyes were discreetly lowered to her order book. "Two cakes a week, say? And a couple of pies, Mr. Howard?"

"Surely, Yes, indeed."

Kate said, "How about cottage cheese? Would you like a pint of that delivered twice a week?"

"That would be suitable," he assured her quaintly.

Salesmanship was now in Kate's blood. She made another suggestion. "We have very good beaten biscuits. If you like several dozen of them each week, it could be arranged."

JEFF HOWARD had the mountaineer's distaste for the "little cracker biscuits" that Blue Grass people set such store by. But then, he reflected hastily, he could feed them to the chickens. He calmly ordered four dozen a week. Kate's prices he accepted without quibbling.

They went to the house and broke the news to their grandfather, who was confined to his room with a sprained back. Kate tried to tell the news casually. She said, "Granddad, you know we told you Hyacinth was sick this morning. Well, we called the doctor. But now she's dead."

Later she saw him groping in the drawer of his bedside table and said sternly, "If you're looking for that apple brandy Granddad, it's gone. I took it away this morning. You'll have to take Hyacinth's love, like the rest of us—without benefit of liquor."

Caroline, adding small figures in the account book, said one evening, "We're spending two cents on coal-ol. Well, here to light one lamp later and go to bed early!"

"Wouldn't candles be cheaper?" Kate speculated. "We could use them for everything but reading. We can't afford to strain our eyes."

It was difficult to get him to consent to an examination, for he dreaded the cost. Eventually she persuaded him that going blind was poor economy. The glasses cost $12, to be paid by weekly installments.

Soon after that, both Kate and Caroline had to go to the dentist. Then Zeke got a splinter embedded so deeply in his wrist that he had to visit the doctor to have it removed. (Over the protests of Alby, who insisted that a farmstead poultice would do just as well.) All in all, the family budget was wrecked and debts began to menace.

One day Kate went into the bedroom and found Caroline weeping quietly, her head in her hands. "What on earth's the matter?" Kate demanded.

"Go away and let me alone!" "I will not," Kate told her. "Not till I find out where the funeral is!"

"There's no funeral," Caroline replied, lifting her head. "It's a wedding. Mine."

"What do you mean?" Kate asked blankly.

"I'm going to marry Mr. Grayson," Caroline said steadily.

Kate sat down and stared at her sister. "You don't mean that, Caroline?" She was suddenly frightened. There was something so bleak in Caroline's announcement. So definite.

"Is it the sort of thing I'd be apt to joke about?" Caroline asked. She got up and smoothed her hair at the mirror. "Do I look facetious?"

"No," Kate answered, swallowing. "But you wouldn't marry that man, Caroline! You couldn't!"

"He's a fine person," Caroline said, wheeling about and facing her. "He's a gentleman. He's from good stock. He's fond of me."

"Why?" Kate demanded. "What else is back of this?"

Announcement was made yesterday that Andre & Andre, one of Jacksonville's best known business establishments, has leased its building on the north side of the public square to Sears, Roebuck & Company, of Chicago. The Chicago firm will occupy the Andre building after January 1, 1937.

The removal of the Andre & Andre firm from its present location will mark the end of nearly 30 years in business at the same location. During that time the firm has grown from a modest store in one room with a floor space of 2,000 square feet to its present location of 47,000 square feet, with a building which has been built up and expanded to its present size.

Missile Shatters Window of Alton Passenger Coach

Woman Has Narrow Escape from Injury; Special Agents Investigate

A stone was thrown through a window of passenger train No. 21 on the Alton Saturday morning as it went south out of Jacksonville about 10 o'clock. The stone was thrown by one of a group of boys along the track at a point of short distance north of the Nichols park crossing.

The missile shattered the window and badly missed a woman passenger. The glass flew about her, but she was not hurt. The train was stopped and backed to the point of attack. The boys ran west to Hardin avenue and disappeared.

Alton officials report frequent depredations along the right-of-way. Insultations have been broken and other damage done, but this is the first attack on a moving train. Special agents have been assigned to the case, and the Alton company, it is reported, will provide a liberal reward for the arrest and conviction of the members of the gang who participated in Saturday's attack.

When Morgan county polled 15,000 votes in 1928, it was a record that attracted attention. Then, in 1932, more than two thousands more votes were mustered. Whether four years will bring another thousand or two additional votes, drawn out by intense interest is a question that will not be known until election night.

Registration in Jacksonville and county precincts is believed to have hit a new high mark this fall. Absentee voting struck a new mark at the office of the county clerk Saturday when the office closed at noon with more than 525 absentee ballots cast. County Clerk F. W. Brockhouse said no more applications can be accepted, as the law limits absent voting to three days before election. The previous high for absentee votes was near 300.

Election supplies will go out tomorrow to all city precincts, most of the county precinct officials already having secured supplies at the clerk's office.

Hours 6 a. m. to 5 p. m. Polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. Tuesday. Citizens will have an assortment of contests to watch and interest them such as is possible only once in four years. President governor, state and district officers, and county officials will be elected Tuesday.

In the closing weeks of the campaign much interest has developed in the four county contests. A state attorney, coroner, circuit clerk and county commissioner are to be chosen. For the most part the issues of the county candidates have been paralleled with those of their party.

The Journal and Courier will furnish election bulletins and information service during Tuesday night and until the returns are in. A speaker will be installed to broadcast the returns.

The number of absentee voters had reached a total of 174 at 4 o'clock this afternoon and according to a statement made by County Clerk Bert W. Brockhouse this is the largest number that has ever voted by absentee ballot from this county. The previous record was established in 1934 when 142 absentee ballots were cast in the election. Today was the last day for absent voters to vote in person and the county clerk's office was busy throughout the day taking care of these people.

Record Vote Forecast Every indication points to the largest vote that has ever been cast in the history of Scott county. A total of 5578 voters were registered, which is a slight increase over the registration for 1934. The interest in the state, national and congressional campaigns has eclipsed the interest in the county election.

Particular interest has been centered around the race of Harry C. Montgomery against Scott Lucas and it is expected to be a big factor in obtaining an unprecedented large vote in this county.

The final confirmation of judges and clerks of elections was made in county court this morning and everything is in readiness for the opening of the polls at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. The polls will remain open until 5 o'clock. Special arrangements have been made for announcing the election returns from the courthouse, as they are received from the various precincts.

Morgan County Vote Is Expected To Be 17,000, Equalling 1932 Record

That Morgan county's vote in Tuesday's national election and state election may overshadow the figures of 1932, when more than 17,000 persons flocked to the polls in the county's 43 precincts, appeared probable yesterday when leaders of all parties prepared to beat the bushes for ballots.

Interest in the election is at high pitch; the people have been stirred by the issues, and all indications point to a huge vote locally.

The season for rallies and addresses by candidates is practically at an end. Candidates for major offices, who have been swinging back and forth through the state, are making tracks for radio stations, where they can voice last minute appeals. But the voters, accustomed to taking in a public meeting nearly every night, when they are content with a short period of peace that forbodes a storm, Monday will be a day of preparation for the first Tuesday in November that the nation has been waiting for.

Heated Political Campaign Closes In Scott County

Harry C. Montgomery and Scott Lucas Have Held Series of Meetings

Winchester, Oct. 31.—One of the most heated political campaigns in history was concluded here this evening when the Democratic party held its final meeting of the campaign. Scott W. Lucas, who is seeking reelection as congressman from the 20th Congressional District, was the principal speaker at the meeting, which was held at the circuit court room of the courthouse. Preceding the address by Mr. Lucas the Horner Veterans Quartet gave a musical program.

The Republican party concluded its campaign with a mass meeting held in Glasgow Thursday evening, which was addressed by Hon. Carl E. Robinson of Jacksonville and Harry C. Montgomery, candidate for congressman from the 20th Congressional District.

All that remains are a number of precinct organization meetings to complete plans for bringing the vote to the polls Tuesday. The campaign has been particularly active this year and has continued with increasing activity since both parties opened their drive for votes with large meetings at the Glasgow Centennial last August. The high point of the Republican campaign was the huge demonstration, which was held here last week to honor Harry C. Montgomery, local candidate for congress. There have been numerous caravans of cars to various points in the congressional district.

Hours 6 a. m. to 5 p. m. Polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. Tuesday. Citizens will have an assortment of contests to watch and interest them such as is possible only once in four years. President governor, state and district officers, and county officials will be elected Tuesday.

In the closing weeks of the campaign much interest has developed in the four county contests. A state attorney, coroner, circuit clerk and county commissioner are to be chosen. For the most part the issues of the county candidates have been paralleled with those of their party.

The Journal and Courier will furnish election bulletins and information service during Tuesday night and until the returns are in. A speaker will be installed to broadcast the returns.

The number of absentee voters had reached a total of 174 at 4 o'clock this afternoon and according to a statement made by County Clerk Bert W. Brockhouse this is the largest number that has ever voted by absentee ballot from this county. The previous record was established in 1934 when 142 absentee ballots were cast in the election. Today was the last day for absent voters to vote in person and the county clerk's office was busy throughout the day taking care of these people.

Record Vote Forecast Every indication points to the largest vote that has ever been cast in the history of Scott county. A total of 5578 voters were registered, which is a slight increase over the registration for 1934. The interest in the state, national and congressional campaigns has eclipsed the interest in the county election.

Particular interest has been centered around the race of Harry C. Montgomery against Scott Lucas and it is expected to be a big factor in obtaining an unprecedented large vote in this county.

The final confirmation of judges and clerks of elections was made in county court this morning and everything is in readiness for the opening of the polls at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. The polls will remain open until 5 o'clock. Special arrangements have been made for announcing the election returns from the courthouse, as they are received from the various precincts.

Hoppers in Wheat.—Wheat fields in many parts of Jersey county are literally alive with grasshopper. The wheat has been making satisfactory growth and that seeded before the onset of the wet season has made considerable top.

The wheat and rice fields, however, are the most numerous food supply for the adult hoppers, whose feet are well adapted to the movement of the crops.

The pest few night hoppers are now cold enough to bring about the death of the hoppers who are now in the fields. The hoppers are now in the fields.

Every indication points to a very able grasshopper plague in Jersey county next season, and a considerable loss of crops is expected.

14. His record is one of "accomplishment for the people of the whole state of Illinois," while "the record of his opponent is one of Promises."

The Real Truth:

1. He "helped" abolish the old State Property tax which brought $25,000,000 into the State Treasury annually. BUT he PUT ON in its place, the Sales Tax, the State Income Tax and the State Utilities Tax, aggregating over $80,000,000 annually. Eliminated ONE tax; PUT ON THREE.

2. The Illinois State Budget hasn't been out of balance for over a quarter of a century. State law prohibits deficits.

3. Neither the Governor nor any other State official can reduce fire rates in Illinois. The State has no rate-making law. So no reductions as have been made have come through voluntary action by the fire insurance companies.

4. Illinois HAS NO OLD AGE PENSION LAW. It has an inadequate Old Age Pension law, which Horner demanded, instead of a bona fide PENSION law. This thing is going on now finding out.

5. Secretary of State Hughes asked a 25 per cent reduction by the 1935 Legislature. Horner fought it and a compromise of approximately 10 per cent reduction resulted.

between 18 and 25 years. In keeping with the interest being shown by the administration, Mrs. Jean B. Davenport, director of NYA activities of northern Illinois, spent two days the past week interviewing the groups to which these NYA youths were assigned. These youths are for the most part assigned from relief families or from homes where a member of the family is employed on a WPA project. They are employed part time and are required to work 44 hours each month.

Mrs. Davenport stated that the major tasks have been the objective of the NYA in Illinois in seeking help to assist this group of young men and women to prepare for life economic, educational, social, recreational and cultural. These have been accomplished through educational and high school and college students part time work on NYA and WPA projects, placement through Illinois State Employment Service, leisure time activities, and the state and vocational and agricultural training in industry.

The NYA does not have complete control of placing these young people in jobs. Its function is to advise the program and provide training for the youth out of the home and into the general school system and through schools while employment on projects requires preparation at the National Reemployment Service Office. Mrs. Davenport further stated a vast amount of highly desirable work is being done and has been done on NYA projects. NYA youths are employed in conducting forums, hobby groups and handicraft classes, vocational information groups and assisting in public libraries, clearing spaces for recreation and various other worth while community building projects. In Illinois, over 10,000 young men and young women are working on NYA projects, which includes construction work of various types and it is proving valuable experience and training for them in whatever private industry to which they may apply themselves. Morgan county is getting its share of NYA assistance in its schools and is receiving aid in addition to those assigned to WPA projects from this source.

Re-ELECT Frank F. McCarthy

Circuit Clerk, Recorder

Life-long Resident of Morgan County.
35 years of age, married and a tax-payer.
Successfully completing first term.

With an excellent record of service to the people of Morgan County, Frank F. McCarthy is a man who has made a name for himself in the eyes of the voters. He is a man of integrity, a man of ability, and a man who is dedicated to the service of his community. He is a man who is worthy of your support.

Congressman Lucas Endorsed by Scott County Paper

The following editorial appearing in the October 21 issue of the Scott County Times-Bluffs, Scott County, Illinois, is a tribute to a man who has made an exceptional record in the short time he has represented the people of the Twentieth Congressional District in Washington. It is also a recognition of Congressman Lucas' ability by the press in his own home county.

"MEASURE THE MAN"

"We are glad to add to this editorial the record of the 'Measure the Man' as found upon some of the views used by the Republican opponent of the Honorable Scott W. Lucas who is seeking reelection to Congress on the Democratic ticket."

SCOTT W. LUCAS

"We ask the voters of Scott County to carefully consider and compare the qualifications, the experience, and the training of Scott W. Lucas, Democratic candidate for Congress, and of Harry C. Montgomery, Republican candidate for Congress."

"If you measure the man with what government demands and needs in the way of capable and competent legislators, Congressman Lucas is endorsed by every individual to be the man who will represent the people of the Twentieth Congressional District in Washington, D. C."

"Congressman Lucas worked his way through high school and college, from farm finances, waiting on tables and doing other odd jobs to obtain funds for a legal education. He received an LL. B. degree from Western University and was admitted to the bar. After returning from the military service in the World War, he was elected State's Attorney in Mason County in 1920, being one of the few Democrats to win and the highest landslide."

"He was elected District Attorney of the American Legion of Illinois in 1925, and at the Perry Franer convention was selected as National Judge Advocate of the national organization. As such he was the adviser and legal counsel for the national organization."

1 Woman Wounded As Two Men Attack Small Home in Dow

Men Smash Door from Hinges, Then Shoot Woman During Battle

At 10:30 p. m. Mrs. J. R. Radcliff of Dow, Ill., was sleeping in her bedroom when she was awakened by a loud crash. She looked out of her window and saw two men standing in front of her house. She called out for help and the men began to smash the door from the hinges. One man then entered the house and shot Mrs. Radcliff in the arm. She fell to the floor and the men fled. Mrs. Radcliff was taken to the hospital and is now recovering from her wounds.

The McDow residence is a three room cottage, the kitchen and two bedrooms. About midnight Mrs. Radcliff got up and put a chunk of coal in the stove and lay down again. She was barely back in bed before she heard someone break open the kitchen door. She got up and saw the men. She called out for help and the men began to smash the door from the hinges. One man then entered the house and shot Mrs. Radcliff in the arm. She fell to the floor and the men fled. Mrs. Radcliff was taken to the hospital and is now recovering from her wounds.

After the firing of the shots, the two robbers fled from the house. An incoherent description of the pair was all that was available to officials. One of the robbers was described as being short and dark complexioned. The other was taller and had a mustache. Both were reported to have spoken with a foreign accent. Sheriff Floyd Darr who was on duty at the time the robbery was committed, said that Mrs. Radcliff was in a very serious condition. He said that she was taken to the hospital and is now recovering from her wounds. The men who attacked her home are still at large.

Notice To Voters

The undersigned organization believes that the best interests of the citizens of Morgan county will be served by electing the following experienced, efficient men to office:—

WILFORD H. ABSHER
Has an unparalleled record as state's attorney, with the highest known record for convictions in the state of Illinois. Added to his four years experience, his honesty and efficiency, entitle him to be re-elected.

FRANK F. MCCARTHY
His actual experience as the Clerk of the Circuit Court (not as a deputy or subordinate) eminently qualifies him to again serve the people of Morgan county in his usual efficient manner.

ELMER O. SAMPLE
His consideration for the taxpayer's money, by causing the state institution's inquests to be paid for by the state of Illinois and not by Morgan county, as well as his fine record, is sufficient recommendation for his reelection—experience counts.

FRANK J. FLYNN
Through his varied and successful business experience, and as a director of one of the state's large business enterprises, makes him amply able to handle the taxpayers' affairs as a county commissioner.

REPUBLICAN PROPAGANDA EXPOSED!

Running true to form under National and State leadership, the local Republican Party is spreading the gospel of fear and mis-representation in Morgan County, as elsewhere. The following advertisement appeared in the Journal and Courier of October 30, 1936; under the caption of "THE NEW DEAL IN MORGAN COUNTY", the second paragraph of which reads as follows:

"In 1932 the County Board of Morgan County levied $20,000.00 for taxes for relief; and in the year 1936 the County Board levied in taxes for relief, the sum of $100,000.00. THIS SUM OF $100,000.00 WILL BE PAID BY THE TAXPAYERS OF MORGAN COUNTY NEXT SPRING, WHEN THEY GO TO THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE TO PAY THEIR TAXES."

The last sentence of the above paragraph is the most vicious mis-representation of the facts that anyone could imagine.

Let's Look Into Facts of the $100,000 Tax Levy For Pauper Relief in Morgan County

An Analysis of the Tax Rates for All County Purposes for the Years 1935 and 1936:

PURPOSE	RATE FOR 1935	TENTATIVE
	On Each $100 Assessed Valuation	RATE FOR 1936 On Each $100 Assessed Valuation
County General Fund25	.25
County Highway Fund . .	.125	.125
County T. B. Fund08	.08
County Bond Fund04	.04
Blind Pension Fund05	.05
Mothers' Pension Fund . .	.04	.02
PAUPER RELIEF FUND165	.185
	.75	.75

The Constitution of the State of Illinois has fixed the limit of 75c on each $100 as the maximum rate permitted to be levied for all County purposes. The County Board, as well as all other taxing bodies, must abide by such Constitutional and Statutory limitations. THEREFORE, Mr. Taxpayer, your County tax rate will be NO HIGHER, "next Spring when you go to the Sheriff's office to pay your taxes," than they were last Spring on account of your County tax rates and the levy of $100,000.00 for relief.

The total assessed valuation of all taxable property for the year 1935 was $31,539,149.00. Assuming the total assessed valuation for 1936 will remain the same, then the total amount that will be paid by the taxpayers of Morgan County for pauper relief will be the sum of $58,347.43 and not $100,000.00!

Why the levy of $100,000.00? Because the General Assembly in the last session passed a law requiring Counties to levy a rate of 30c for pauper relief in order to qualify for State Aid for Pauper Relief and $100,000.00 was levied in order that Morgan could meet that requirement.

Tax LEVIES are not the sole factor in determining the amount of taxes extended or collected: The maximum RATE, either Statutory or Constitutional, must be considered:

FOR EXAMPLE:

A tax levy made by the City of Jacksonville, Illinois, by its governing body, on April 29, 1935, shows, among other things, the following tax levies, the Statutory limit of tax rate and the actual amount of taxes extended:

PURPOSE	LEVY	RATE (Statutory Limit)	AMOUNT OF TAX Actually Extended
Municipal Fund	$117,840.00	67c	$62,658.60
Park Fund	20,000.00	10c	9,352.03
Library Fund	17,000.00	12c	11,222.41
Public Benefit Fund . .	30,000.00	10c	9,352.03

Thus it can be seen that there is a vast difference between the amount of the levy, and the legal amount that may be extended.

From the foregoing FACTS the Taxpayers and Voters of MORGAN COUNTY will readily understand and know why the County Board did make a levy of $100,000.00 for Pauper Relief which was justifiable when all the FACTS are known and WITHOUT PAYING ANY HIGHER TAXES "next Spring when they go to the Sheriff's office to pay their taxes."

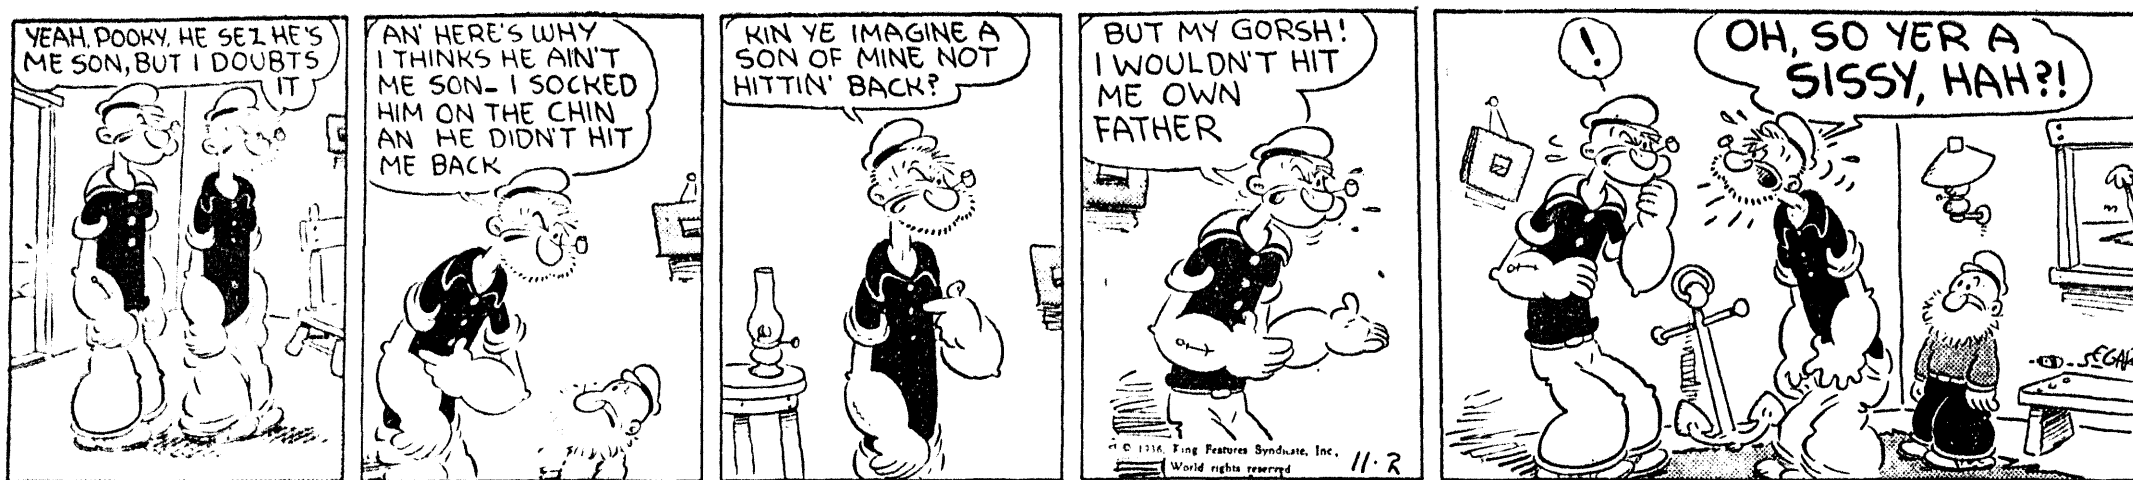

If the Taxpayers doubt these facts, they are urged to come to the Court House and verify them.

Rather "Shifty"

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The stock market shifted from pillar to post today and finished about where it started.

A few farm implements, coppers and specialties got out in front for rains as much as 3 points or so but the rails fell back and leading motors, utilities, steels and oils drifted indifferently.

Traders seemed to like the taste of business and industrial news morsels, although most commission house customers were inclined to hold to safety zones pending Tuesday's national balloting.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at 74.4. For the month the average showed a net advance of .37 points. Traders tallied 33,360 shares compared with 619,180 last Saturday.

Agricultural machinery issues responded to higher earnings hopes based on prospects for larger crops and expanding farm incomes.

The rails were the most backward department notwithstanding the Interstate Commerce Commission's approval of free pick-up and delivery service on less than railroad lots for eastern roads was viewed as constructive. A seasonal dip in traffic was thought likely over the next several weeks.

Principal share gainers came at new highs for the recovery, included American Telephone at 180, American Copper at 27, Kennecott at 40, Central Pacific at 64, J. I. Case at 101, Deere at 98, International Harvester at 91, Sears Roebuck at 94, Woolworth at 61 and Du Pont at 174.

On the downside, losses to a point or more were Santa Fe at 76, Pennsylvania at 43, N. Y. Central at 45, Bethlehem at 121, General Motors at 70, Chrysler at 124, Western Union at 97, Consolidated Edison at 48, Budd at 111 and Electric Power & Light at 151.
